

"Flip the Script" a metapuzzle by Peter Washington

ACROSS

1. German chaplains
8. Milieu
15. Arabian princess
16. Yellowcake ingredient
17. Moodier?
18. Hydrates anew
19. Industrial rock band initialism based on a German phrase loosely translated as "no pity for the majority"
21. Industrial rock "band" (that's really just one guy) often referred to by its initials, as here and on the "With Teeth" album cover
22. There once was a Georgian one
25. Spanish blood sausages
27. Superior alternative to lipreading
30. "Excuse me," onomatopoeically
32. Toledo-to-Valencia dirección
33. Orchestral tune-setter
34. A detective might hunt for one
36. A detective might hunt for one
39. Feature of some personal or corporate branding
41. Nontraditional place for some jewelry
42. Rapper on "The Marshall Mathers LP"
43. Sudanese tribesman
44. Carnitas medium
46. "I ____ Spicy Pepper" (hyperbolic poem of unknown authorship that sure seems like it could have been written by Shel Silverstein)
47. Some Italian sports cars (abbr.)
48. Not having gotten it can lead to a faux pas
51. IRS no.
52. "The Girl from Ipanema" setting
53. In unison
55. Store with a multicolored sign at many malls
59. Automotive air tubes
63. Least daunted
64. Hiding place for Voldemort's locket
65. Reanimated ones guarded Voldemort's locket
66. Da Nang disaster

DOWN

1. Monogram for Capote's portrayer
2. Fraternity letter that sounds like a word that can follow "fraternity"

The answer to the metapuzzle is a six-letter word.

3. "Star-Spangled Banner" preposition
4. Singer on "Get the Party Started"
5. Be miserly
6. Speedster superhero persona in an arctic-themed bodysuit who races fans during Atlanta Braves games
7. Ancient Persian city in modern-day Turkey
8. "Ben-____"
9. NBA venue
10. Part of a capital gain calculation
11. Not oblivious to
12. "Wayne's World" actress Carrere
13. Bird that's superficially similar, but not closely related, to the penguin
14. Superscript symbols used to claim IP rights
20. "Hamlet" plot device intended to "catch the conscience of the king"
22. Electronics manufacturer with a blue ellipse logo
23. Hurling competition
24. Creates anew, as after an accidental overwrite
26. Musk's co., on the NASDAQ
27. Markings indicating nonattendance
28. Evening events
29. Cinematographer
31. Jim Ryun or Hicham El Guerrouj, for example
33. Ancient Roman neighborhood
35. Word part indicating masculinity
37. Venture capitalist's offering
38. Breadbox?
40. Mythical European goatlike beast
45. Word on many anti-Trump bumper stickers
48. Periodically rotated rotators
49. It has an unfair advantage
50. Coming soon
52. Evite feature
54. A pop
55. Cliffhanger abbr.
56. Valencia valuable
57. "Star Trek: TNG" security officer Tasha
58. Ave. crossers
60. Chinese Nobelism Charles known as the "Father of Fiber Optics"
61. Mitsubishi sports sedan, for short
62. McConnell or Feinstein, briefly